Molotov Returns To Geneva Talks From Moscow

Told New Strategy; French, Rebels To Arrange Truce Details

GENEVA, (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov returned to the Far Eastern conference today after a sudden, two-day trip back to Moscow for consultations.

Three transport planes brought Molotov and his party here. A bulletproof limousine whisked the Russian diplomatic chief to his villa immediately.

Molotov went home unexpectedly Sunday, telling several of the Western delegation chiefs he would return today.

Western observers assumed he had gone back to report to Soviet Premier Georgi M. Malenkov and his associates on the talks thus far, and to discuss the strategy the Soviets will pursue in the future negotiations on Indochina.

These sources believe the Communists now are debating whether to try to prolong the negotiations for an Indochina armistice in order to produce a replica of the two-year-long Korean military talks at Panmunjom, or whether to seek a halt as soon as possible to the fighting.

French, Rebels To Meet

Aside from Molotov's return, the chief event anticipated at the conference today was a meeting of French and Vietnamese representatives called to arrange for the opening of military discussions on armistice terms later this week.

The nine-party conference on Indochina was in recess for a day after getting snarled yesterday over Communist proposals for a "neutral" commission to police any truce that may be achieved. The conference debate was scheduled to resume tomorrow at another secret session.

The delegates used the recess today for private conference with their allies.

The French-Vietnamese meeting today was called to work out preliminary details of negotiations — expected to begin Thursday — on the question of zones in which the rival forces would assemble if and when a cease-fire is effected.

New Difficulties Arise

New difficulties over the cease-fire question arose yesterday when the full Indochina conference came to grips for the first time with the problem of policing an armistice.

The Communists proposed establishment of a Korea-type police body — part Communist, the rest non-Red — for Indochina. The Soviet Union nominated Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia, along with India and Pakistan. The West quickly objected, charging that the Korean Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission had failed to work because of vetoes by its Communist members.

The conference planned to continue discussion also on other issues, including proposals for exchange of prisoners and prohibition of reinforcements from outside.

The proposal for a four-nation supervisory commission was advanced yesterday by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. Objecting to the Red proposal, U.S. Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith cited repeated deadlocks on the Korean supervisory commission.

Fairfield Poll On School Merger To Be Aired

FAIRFIELD — The Fairfield School Board of Education is expected to receive the results of a survey of Fairfield Township residents sounding out their opinion on the proposed merger of Fairfield and New Waterford school districts at the regular monthly meeting Wednesday night at 8.

The Fairfield board probably will maintain its position favoring the merger unless 50 per cent or more of the people oppose it, President James Cooper stated today.

The original merger plan included Unit Local School district, but its board last rejected the idea. The consolidation has met with strong opposition from some citizens who believe the present school system is adequate and satisfactory.

Leroy Hartsough D.C. will be in his office June 2nd to June 16th.

McCarthy-White House Dispute Goes On

Cohn Says He'll Prove Schine Did Committee Work While On Leaves

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roy M. Cohn denied today ever asking that Pvt. G. David Schine be assigned to the New York area — disputing testimony from both Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army Counselor John Adams.

Cohn insisted Adams was "quite mistaken" in declaring that Cohn exerted extreme pressure to get a New York assignment for Schine.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roy M. Cohn said today he is ready to produce a "great bulk" of papers to show that Pvt. G. David Schine worked for Sen. McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee while on leave from the Army.

Cohn goes back to the witness chair today in the 24th day of televised hearings on the McCarthy-Army dispute with instruction to hand investigating senators subcommittee records bearing on Schine's activities after he was drafted last Nov. 3.

Schine, an unpaid subcommittee consultant before he was drafted, is a central figure in the row. Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams have accused McCarthy and Cohn of exerting improper pressures in efforts to win preferential Army treatment for Schine.

McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican and Cohn in turn have accused Stevens and Adams of trying to use Schine as a "hostage" to sidetrack McCarthy's search for Communists in the Army.

Both Vacate Roles

McCarthy normally heads the subcommittee and Cohn is its chief counsel. Both have stepped from their roles temporarily while the subcommittee looks into the row.

Cohn said in an interview he had assembled a large group of records — including some notes in Schine's handwriting — to back up the McCarthy camp's claim that Schine busied himself on official work when, at the request of staff members, he was given weekend and week-night leaves from Ft. Dix, N.J., where he did his basic training.

There have been published reports that Schine spent at least some of his time while on leave in New York night clubs, but a number of Republicans have

3 Minor Traffic Mishaps Reported

Police investigated three minor traffic mishaps in the city Monday. No one was hurt and only minor damage was done to the autos.

Cars driven by Keith M. Krepps, 24, of 925 E. 5th St. and Harold A. Hughes of Barborton, collided on State St., east of Lincoln Ave., at 6:10 p.m.

Police said Krepps, westbound, started a right turn and the Hughes auto tried to pass him on the right side.

A rear end collision between autos operated by Daniel W. Cramer, 45, of Clyde and Harold Theodore Yingling, 29, of 857 E. 6th St. occurred on the Benton Rd., north of Route 62, at 6:42 p.m.

Both vehicles were moving north in a slow line of traffic, police said, the Cramer car stopped and Yingling's auto struck it in the rear.

A similar accident occurred at the intersection of W. State St. and the Benton Rd. at 5:45 p.m. between autos driven by Robert Temple, 25, of RD 1, Guernsey and Howard J. Widden Jr., 23, of Columbus. Widden's car struck the rear end of the Temple car as Temple stopped for a traffic light, police said.

WEDNESDAY STORE HOURS

Three Injured As 2 Trucks Crash Monday

Three persons were injured at 3:50 Monday afternoon when two trucks collided on Route 45, three and a half miles south of Salem. A passenger in one of the vehicles was hospitalized.

In fair condition today at Salem City Hospital, is 60-year-old Nicholas Norris of RD 3, Warren, who received lacerations of the scalp and possible fractures of the shoulder and ribs in the mishap.

State patrolmen said the truck in which Norris was riding, driven by Richard Howell, 27, of RD 3, Warren, attempted to pass the other truck on a curve and sideswiped its front end.

The other vehicle, operated by Albert Chute, 32, of Rayland, was forced into the ditch. Howell's truck also careened into the ditch and overturned after the sideswipe, patrolmen reported.

Howell suffered lacerations of the scalp, brush burns and body bruises. He was treated at Salem City Hospital and released.

Chute escaped injury. A passenger in his truck, James Huton, 65, of Rayland, received a bruised right arm.

Howell's truck was demolished, patrolmen said. The Chute vehicle was badly damaged.

Howell was cited by the patrol for reckless driving.

One other traffic mishap investigated by patrolmen Monday resulted in damage to the two cars, but no personal injury.

Autos driven by John Dzadony, 43, of Parma, and Peter G. Peters, 42, of Lakewood, N. Y. collided on Route 14, eight miles north of Salem at 6 p.m.

Patrolmen said the Peters auto, eastbound on the Snodgrass-Beloit Road, failed to yield the right of way to Dzadony's car, which was traveling north on Route 14. Peters was cited on the charge.

Ike Deplores Split On How To Fight Reds

Blasts Prejudice, Demagogues Seeking Personal Power

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower last night deplored division within America on how to fight communism. He called for "more knowledge and intellect and less prejudice and passion."

A "crusade of truth" is needed both at home and abroad, he told a dinner highlighting the 200th anniversary of the founding of Columbia University.

"Through knowledge and understanding," he said, "we will drive from the temple of freedom all who seek to establish over us thought control—whether they be agents of a foreign state or demagogues thirsting for personal power and public notice."

The President mentioned no names in denouncing "would-be censors and regulators" and those who "divert our attention from the main battle" in opposing communism—an over-all goal on which he said Americans are united above all others.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty was asked whether the President had referred in the speech to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), with whom the administration has differed sharply in recent weeks.

Won't Interpret Remarks

"I am not going to try to interpret the President's remarks," Hagerty answered.

McCarthy could not be reached for comment.

The speech was a major statement of the President's views on how communism should be combatted. His voice grew thick with emotion when he referred to "demagogues" and "division." Those parts of his speech were thunderously applauded by his listeners.

The nationally televised speech was heard by some 1,800 alumni, faculty members and friends of Columbia University who jammed the ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and another 400 who overflowed into an adjoining dining room. A score of college presidents were in the audience.

It was a homecoming of sorts for Eisenhower, who was Columbia's president from 1948 until shortly before his inauguration last year. Applause interrupted the 30-minute speech 21 times.

After stating that America is completely united in opposing communism, the President added:

Sees Division

"Yet, my friends, and I say this sadly, is there any other subject that seems, at this moment, to be the cause of so much division among us?"

In addition to criticizing those who cause "division," the President attacked "doubters" who "begin to fear other people's ideas" and "begin to talk about censoring the sources and the communication of ideas."

"The honest men and women among these would-be censors and regulators may merely forget that the price of their success would be the destruction of that way of life they want to preserve," he said.

"But the dishonest and the disloyal among them know exactly what they are attempting to do—perverting and undermining a free society while falsely swearing allegiance to it."

He cautioned against allowing "ourselves to be persuaded that every individual or party—that takes issue with our convictions is necessarily wicked or treasonous."

When that happens, he said, "then indeed we are approaching the end of freedom's road."

He also warned against confusing "honest dissent with disloyal subversion," noting that "we are descended in blood and spirit from revolutionaries and rebels—men and women who dared to dissent from accepted doctrine."

Memorial Day Speakers Call For Goal Of Enduring Peace

Men who fought in all of America's wars and who gave their lives on land, on the seas and in the air were paid homage in the ceremonies which marked Salem's Memorial Day observance.

Rex Reich, past commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars post here, was parade marshal, and Archie Bricker, commander of the American Legion Post, was president of the day.

Hundreds of persons watched the parade on E. State St., and when the units separated to go north on Lincoln Ave. to Hope Cemetery and south to Grandview Cemetery, spectators lined the streets each way.

Following the ceremonies at the cemeteries, the American Legion memorial squad, commanded by John Herman Jr., traveled to the Millville Bridge on Route 14, east of Salem, where flowers were cast into Beaver Creek in tribute to those who gave their lives at sea. At the same time planes overhead dropped poppies honoring the airmen's memory. Paul Bertalan was flight commander.

The American Legion color guard, memorial squad and Quaker City Band led the march to Hope Cemetery. In the procession were Brownie and Cub Scouts, Girl Scouts, adult leaders and horse and bicycle riders.

A number of people rode in cars made available by the Salem Auto Dealers Association.

A colorful addition to the parade was the 25-member drum majorette unit, the Sylvettes, in red, white and blue costumes. This unit followed by the Quaker City Band.

Veterans of Foreign Wars headed the large delegation to Grandview Cemetery, with the Salem

Showboat Majestic To Begin Cruise

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP) — The showboat Majestic, the only one still traveling on the Ohio River, starts its annual cruise Thursday, June 10, with a performance at nearby Wellsville.

The Majestic players, 16 women students and eight men students from Hiram College, have an itinerary of three melodramas—"Lust, Lucre and Liquor, or Virtue Unbesmirched," "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and "Maria Martens."

In addition to the demands of the showboat stage, the students must swab decks, wash dishes, buy groceries and perform other tasks that make up the complete operation of the cruise.

Jeffery W. Kutz, professor of speech and drama at Hiram, is in charge of the project.

Besides Wellsville, the tour includes stops at New Cumberland, Steubenville, Wellsburg, Wheeling, W. Va., Powhatan Point, Clarington, New Martinsville, Sistersville, Saint Marys, Marietta, Parkersburg and Long Bottom; W. Va.

The cruise also may include Cincinnati and Louisville, Ky., this summer.

Earley, Flick Named To Permanent Posts

Capt. George "Sim" Earley and Patrolman Norman Flick today were certified to permanent positions with the Salem Police Department after having successfully completed a 90-day probationary period.

The city's Board of Control composed of the mayor, director of public service and director of public safety, has so notified the two men who took the posts March 1.

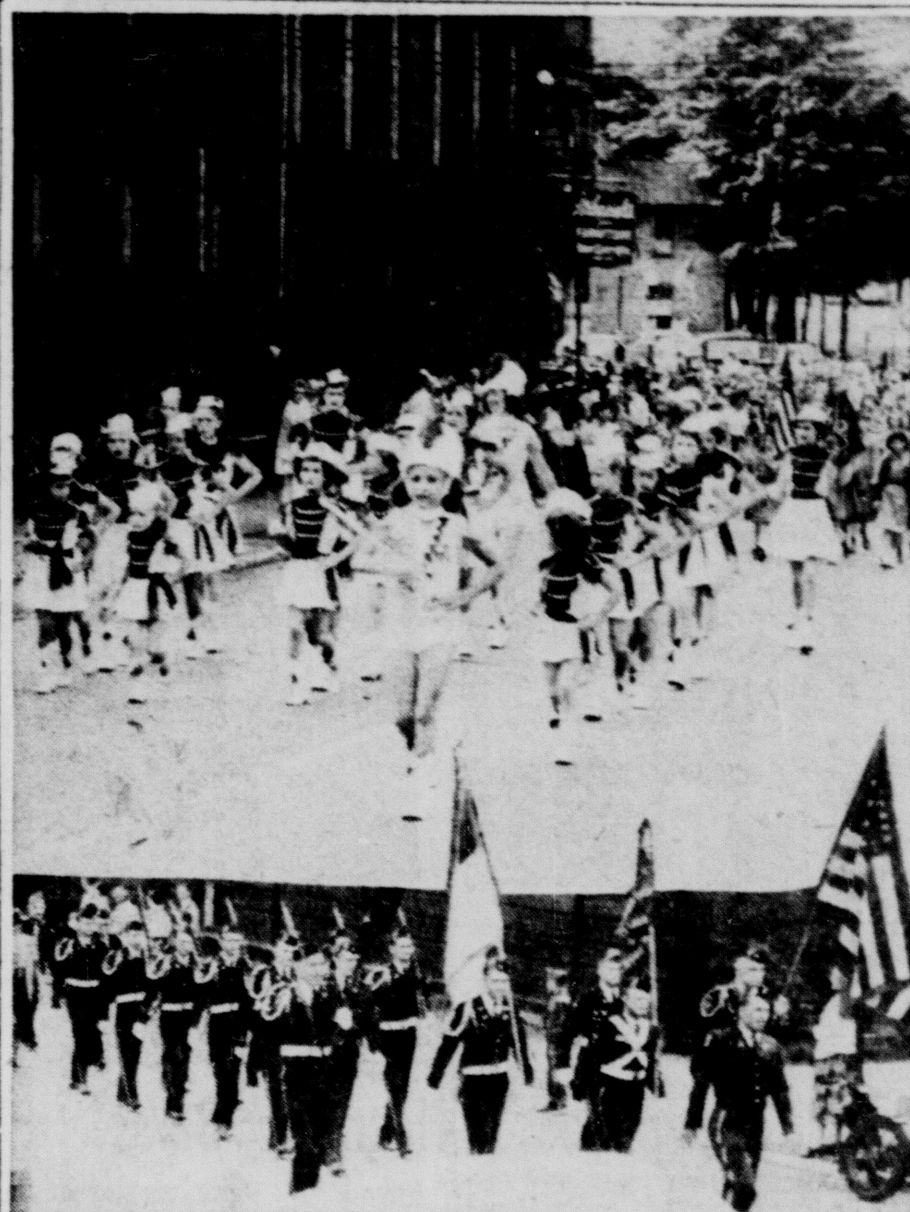

Letters were sent to the two police officers by Mayor Dean B. Cramer after Police Chief Nerr Gaunt, in a letter to the mayor, certified the two policemen have satisfactorily completed probationary period.

Earley was highest in a promotional test to replace Capt. James Hassey, who retired March 1, and Flick scored high in the examination for a replacement patrolman.

Fishing Boat Stolen

An eight-foot fishing boat valued at $75 was stolen from the front yard of a home on Teegarden Road Monday night, the sheriff's office learned today.

Roy D. Tullis of RD 3, Salem, owner, said he had placed the boat on the front lawn to try to sell it.

AMONG THE MARCHING UNITS in Salem's Memorial Day Parade were the Sylvettes, composed of young majorettes, (top) and the American Legion Memorial Squad (bottom).

Edison Chief Blasts Federal Power Business

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — The president of the Edison Electric Institute today invited the government to pack up and get out of the power business.

Walter H. Sammis of Akron, Ohio, head of both the institute and the Ohio Edison Co., said the record shows the American people can wisely and safely entrust the electric power business to private enterprise.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the annual EEI convention, Sammis assailed what he called the "unfairness and the inequities of government power competition" with private utilities.

"Propaganda has been for years disseminated skillfully, often by government officials, creating the fear of impending power shortage," he said, "or creating the fear that the job of supplying the nation's power requirements is too big for private industry."

But the real facts show, he said, that private enterprise can "provide this country with an ample supply of power for all needs at reasonable rates as determined by regulatory authorities."

Lifesaving, Pool Classes To Meet Wednesday

All persons who signed for junior or senior lifesaving courses or swimming classes to be held at Centennial Park Pool are to meet at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at the high school auditorium. About 650 persons have already registered for the classes.

Parents of enrolled children are invited to hear the planned program. Four movies will be shown and Earl Sarge Ware, water safety director, will explain how the classes will be operated and at what times.

Persons still wishing to enroll should report at the Wednesday meeting.

14 Drivers Fined Here Over Weekend

Mayor Dean B. Cramer fined 14 drivers a total of $644 and costs since Saturday night of the Memorial Day weekend on traffic violations. State Highway Patrolmen and police were out in full force to snag violators and prevent accidents.

Five drivers were fined on reckless driving charges: Richard V. Kelley, 20, of RD 4, Salem, second offense, $100; James R. Mohr, 25, of Sebring, $50; Richard A. Conser, 19, of RD 1, Hanoverton, $50; Joseph ernard, 46, of Canton, $10.

Francis W. Zagawski, 30, of Canton was fined $25 on a reckless driving charge and $25 for driving without a valid operator's license.

Fined on speeding charges were: Albert K. Spack, 23, of RD 2, Salem, $15; Webster Camerer, 40, of Columbus, $20; Stephen Hought, 21, of Youngstown, $15; and William Kozicky, 30, of North Lima, $20.

Francis Gordon, 34, of Canton, was fined $25 for permitting an unlicensed driver to operate a vehicle and Frank Koss, 57, of Hanoverton was fined $10 for driving a defective vehicle.

For driving overloaded trucks, Robert E. Hood, 30, of Philadelphia was fined $46; Samuel J. Maurer, 29, of Navarre, $68; and Stephen J. Pietras, 31, of Canton, $159.

City Pool Attracts 754 On Memorial Day

A total of 754 persons paid admission to the Centennial Park Swimming Pool on Memorial Day. Fred Smith, park custodian, reported today.

Traffic Again Is No. 1 Killer With 345 Dead

86 Drown; Road Toll Is 100 Above Last Holiday Weekend

By The Associated Press

The nation's violent death toll over the extended Memorial Day holiday mounted past the 500 mark today.

Traffic accidents, as in other holidays, was the No. 1 killer. There were at least 345 persons killed in auto accidents from 6 p. m. Friday until midnight Monday.

The death toll on the highway was more than 100 above the number killed in auto mishaps over a comparative period of time two weeks earlier and topped the 340 estimated by the National Safety Council in a pre-holiday statement.

In addition to traffic deaths, 86 persons lost their lives by drowning and 70 others were killed in accidents of miscellaneous causes for a total of 501 holiday deaths.

In the two day holiday last year, 501 were killed. The record Memorial Day death toll of 571 in a four-day period was set in 1950.

This year's traffic toll was near the record of 363 in the three-day Memorial Day holiday of 1952.

An Associated Press survey of violent deaths was taken from 6 p. m. May 14 to midnight May 17, the same time span as the Memorial Day holiday, and showed a total of 243 traffic deaths, 30 drownings and 66 miscellaneous deaths for a total of 339.

Army Prober Says Leech Not Guilty

POMPANY BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Bart E. Sullivan, former Army investigator, says James M. Leech of Lima, Ohio, did not commit the ax and fire murders of three American Army officers at Passau, Germany.

Sullivan, now a Pompano Beach attorney, yesterday denied he mishandled the investigation of the case in 1946. He said he didn't think Leech, then an Army captain, did it eight years ago "and I don't think so now."

Sullivan was accused of mishandling the probe by William D. Canfield, deputy U.S. prosecutor at Nuremberg, Germany. Canfield recently announced he now has enough evidence to request the extradition of Leech to Germany.

"If Sullivan had not been in charge of the investigation, an arrest would have been made in 48 hours," Canfield said.

Sullivan said he was not ordered to Passau until two weeks after the crime occurred.

He said he could not see how a man who arrived on the scene eight years later could say whether the original investigation had been bungled.

After he finished his probe, Sullivan said, other investigators continued to work on the case but were unable to turn up any evidence against Leech.

"All Canfield has been doing is reading files," Sullivan said.

Social Security Vote Is Today

Passage Of Extended Benefits, Taxes Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to add an estimated 10 million persons to the social security rolls and to boost benefits and taxes comes before the House today for debate and almost certain passage.

Drafted by the House Ways and Means Committee and embodying in large part recommendations by President Eisenhower, it was docked under "take it or leave it" procedure. It cannot be amended on the floor.

The legislation has little if any opposition. The Senate has not acted.

Besides extending social security coverage to large new groups, the legislation would provide for increased benefit payments, larger annual contributions by employers and employees, and a more liberal income test for people already receiving payments under the 17½-year-old program.

A major provision would boost from $3,600 to $4,200 the maximum annual wage on which both benefits and taxes are based. At the present rate of 2 per cent — for both workers and employers — this means an additional payment of $12 annually into the social security fund by each covered worker making $4,200 or more and by his employer.

The new benefit structure would boost monthly payments now being made to an estimated six million persons by a minimum of $5. The new monthly minimum would rise from $25 to $30.

Maximum monthly benefits for a retired worker would be hiked from $85 to $98.50.

Those increases, affecting persons already receiving benefits, would become operative two months after the bill becomes law.

Most of the other changes would become effective next Jan. 1.

For covered workers not yet retired, the maximum monthly benefit would go up to $108.50. It now is $85. The top for a retired worker and his wife, if she is over 65, would jump from $127.50 to $162.75. The maximum payable to any one family would be raised from the present $168.75 monthly to $200.

Persons already retired but having small earnings from part-time work would get a break. Existing law cuts them off from benefits for any month in which they earn more than $75 in covered employment. The proposed new law would let them earn at least $1,000 a year from covered or uncovered employment. Above that, they would lose one month's benefits for each month in which they earned more than $80.

As under present law, retired persons who are 75 years old or older are not affected. They may

He's Got Proof That He's a Fireman

Lucky Joey Bresica, 4, didn't have to wait until he grew up to realize his boyhood ambition. He is a full-fledged member of the Cleveland (Ohio) Fire Department. If any of his pals are skeptical, he has a certificate, badge, helmet and pictures to prove it. Ever since he was two, he's been making regular visits to the station and the old firemen "adopted" him. Sen. Duff Attacks Stand By McCarthy

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sen. Duff (R-Pa.) says Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) has issued "an invitation to anarchy" in calling for federal employees to provide him with information about alleged subversion in the government.

And Duff said he would "unqualifiedly" vote to censure the Wisconsin senator, because he thinks the senator has challenged the integrity of the Senate itself.

Appearing on a television interview, Duff said the current hearings involving the disputes between McCarthy and the army have changed into a contest between McCarthy and the President.

He said now is the time for the Senate to "step into the picture by passing rules and examining cases where legislative committees have got out of hand."

Cpl. Batchelor Signs Non-Communist Claim

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — One of the U. S. soldiers who first refused repatriation while a prisoner of the Communists in Korea has signed non-Communist affidavit.

Cpl. Claude Batchelor, 22, of Kermit, Tex., signed the affidavit yesterday at Fort Sam Houston's post prison. It clears the way for him to collect about $4,000 in back pay.

Batchelor's civilian counsel, Joel Westbrook, said part of the money would be used in the corporal's defense. The rest, the lawyer said, will be used to bring Kyoto, Batchelor's Japanese wife, to this country from Tokyo, where she is living with her family.

Batchelor is imprisoned while the Army investigates the possibility of court-martialing him on charges of collaborating with the enemy while a prisoner of war.

Goshen Graduates Hear Rev. Barss

Rev. E. K. Barss, pastor of the Methodist Church in Damascus, delivered the baccalaureate address Sunday evening to 50 graduates of Goshen Union High School in the school auditorium. His subject was "Youth in a World of Opportunity."

Rev. Barss said, "You are living in a world of opportunity, believe that you mean something big to the world; develop the talent you already have." "The road to perfection is not an easy one to travel, it takes resistance, courage, and faith in God before you will reach the goal," he continued.

He concluded by saying, "The world is yours, it's a world full of opportunity for leadership and service, Christ calls you into his service, will you not heed his call?"

Lost Boy's Arithmetic Proves To Be Excellent

BALTIMORE (AP)—Arnold White, one of five children lost within a hectic 90-minute period in Druid Hill Park yesterday, told a police matron his mother once had five children but only had four now.

"Why?" the matron asked.

"Because I'm gone," the 5-year-old said.

BOILERMAKERS' STRIKE

CLEVELAND (AP) — The AFL Boilermakers Union, following a deadlock in negotiations with area contractors, ordered a strike, starting at midnight last night. John Kenney, union secretary, said 1,100 workers in 24 northeast Ohio counties would be idle today. Kenney said the boilermakers were willing to settle for the 12½-cent hourly boost won recently by construction workers here, but were offered only 10 cents. Current wage scales of the boilermakers were not available.

Milton Berle's Mother, 77, Dies In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Sandra Berle, who guided the early career of her son, television comedian Milton Berle, and backed up his jokes with enthusiastic laughter, died last night. She was 77.

Berle often quipped that "Mom" was his best fan and he would call her from the audience to take bows with him.

In theaters across the country her high-pitched laugh cued crowds in response to his gags and stories.

A friend of the family reported Berle was in California when he received word of her death and would fly to New York today.

The family spokesman said Mrs. Berle, who had been ill for several days, died of a cerebral hemorrhage.

She is survived by three other sons, Phil of Los Angeles and Jack and Frank of New York, also surviving is a daughter, Mrs. Rosalind Wigderson, of Miami, Fla.

My Newspaper
Route
Helps Me
Enjoy Life

in the Good Old
Summertime

Yes, sir, there certainly are many advantages in having a newspaper route in the summertime. As a carrier salesman I get to enjoy all the picnics, trips, athletic events and prize contests my paper sponsors. Who doesn't enjoy a wiener roast or a trip to the ball park?

I'm earning my own money, too, which helps me to pay for many other summertime activities and hobbies. Of course, some of my profits go into my bank account and will help me go to college some day. At the same time I'm learning how to handle money and meet the public. In short, I'm learning to run a business... my-business...

All good businessmen have someone trained to take over their work so they can enjoy a vacation. Another boy, trained by me to give my customers good service, will carry on for me while I am on vacation with my family. It will be an opportunity for him to learn about the newspaper route business and I know he'll want a route of his own after delivering mine.

THERE YOU HAVE IT! I'M EARNING, LEARNING
AND HAVING FUN ON MY NEWSPAPER ROUTE,

Better-Than-Normal Business

If statistics are the record of things past and the reflection of things to come, business prophets have their work cut out for them.

Statistics reveal that the slide from the business-boom peak which has been watched so anxiously since last fall still shows business activity continuing some 20 per cent higher than normal — the rate halfway between the top of all the booms and the bottom of all the slumps for the last 100 years.

Moreover, spot checks in the nation show that there is no condition which could be described as a general slump. Some industries, some enterprises and some communities are hard hit, but elsewhere conditions are good enough to justify a feeling of exuberant optimism.

Furthermore, it is conceded even by those looking on the dark side that there is nothing in popular psychology which seems to belong to a depression. This seems to be similar to what happened in 1949, when business activity slowed up more than it has slowed up now yet caused no particular alarm because the great majority of Americans were not mentally conditioned to look for evidence of a slump.

When the business-activity rate began to taper off from boom levels late last summer, everybody whistled in the dark.

Now that the rate has failed to taper off as rapidly as pessimists thought it was going to, everybody seems half afraid to whistle in the light. But if statistics showing what already has happened also reveal what is likely to happen, the United States is going to taper off from its boom at a point above normal, as determined by the rates which have prevailed for the last century.

Other Side Of The Proposition

There is a current proposition in this era of fast-growing suburbs that says the new population centers outside city limits feed on the cities they surround.

It is contended that the suburbs lead a parasitical existence, relying on the central cities for services which the suburbanites rarely pay for, except when the cities levy payroll taxes.

This is only half the picture, although it is the half usually brought into focus. But there is another half which should be brought into focus too. Public Management, published by International City Managers Association, has performed this service.

John L. Scott, village manager of Park Forest, Ill., decries that suburbs are parasites. If it weren't for suburbanites helping to keep the cities' commercial enterprises going, he points out, urban residents would lose the enormous tax yields which are the backbone of their municipal revenue. The suburbs, he contends, keep the cities alive by surrounding them with dynamic new communities to replace the dying old communities inside the city limits. Moreover, they are doing this at a cost to their taxpayers which is sometimes greater than the cost of living in the original city.

"Parasite" is a word to be uttered with a smile when discussing who is doing the feeding and who is doing the eating in the city-suburb equation.

Bigger Than Bikini

As Civil Defense officials have been learning, the 1954 series of H-bomb tests blew up some things larger than the atolls at Bikini.

If it is true that the tests now have been completed, it would seem to be time for the whole matter of civil defense to be restudied.

There is no favor any more for the theory inherited from World War II and kept intact until development of the H-bomb that cities could survive aerial attack with nuclear weapons. It is known now that one H-bomb could obliterate everything in the largest cities. Several A-bombs could do the same thing.

But Civil Defense officials have learned in the meantime that there is no favor, either, for plans to evacuate cities. That is where the restructuring should be concentrated — on the hopelessness in the face of danger which has been instilled by realization that the H-bomb is, at long last, the definitive weapon sought by warmakers.

But it does not follow in civil defense any more than it follows in any other preparations for defense against warmakers that H-bombs would be used to the exclusion of all other weapons.

On the contrary, it is reasonable to assume that the use of these definitive weapons would be held in abeyance by the same kind of mutual consent which restrained both sides in World War II from using poison gas.

If that happened, U. S. cities would need every kind of civil defense which has recently been made to seem so futile by the realization that no civil defense could prevail against an attack with H-bombs.

Who's In Charge?

By JAMES MARLOW

McCarthy Challenges Eisenhower's Authority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Who's in charge around here?

Sen. McCarthy didn't ask the question. But he raised it by challenging President Eisenhower's authority to run the executive branch of the government as he thinks best.

McCarthy urged all federal employees—in spite of any Eisenhower order not to give out classified information—to turn over to him any information they might have on graft, corruption, communism or reason.

This didn't just happen suddenly. McCarthy has been leading up to this, although there's no sign he planned it step by step.

Last Sept. 9 he showed newsmen 70 pages of a 75-page "restricted" Army intelligence pamphlet on Siberia. He described it as "clear-cut, all-out Communist propaganda."

This was a case of McCarthy deciding he knew better than the Army what should be kept secret and what revealed. There are laws against revealing secret information. The Army said he had violated them. Nothing happened.

During the Senate hearings on his fight with Army officials he produced a document on spying in the Army. It was a condensed version of a much longer one which FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover had sent to the Army, marked "confidential." Some unknown person had copied parts of the original and given them to McCarthy.

McCarthy proposed to make it public. Again, McCarthy was deciding what should be released to the public.

Atty. Gen. Brownell said it should not be divulged because national security was involved. McCarthy said: "No human . . . or any other directive which is designed not . . . for the security of this nation but to prevent employment for those responsible for covering up Communists . . . will keep me from making . . . public (this) type of information."

He said an Army officer had given him the document, but refused to reveal the man's name, although it would appear the man had violated the law by giving McCarthy the document. McCarthy assured all federal employees he'd keep their names in confidence if they gave him secrets.

When Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) last week referred to this document, suggesting that McCarthy himself might be guilty of a crime in receiving it, McCarthy was nettled. He said:

"So far as I am concerned, I would like to notify those two million federal employees that I feel it is their duty to give us any information which they have about graft, corruption, communism, and that there is no loyalty to a superior officer which can tower above and beyond their loyalty to their country."

Since McCarthy excluded no one, it can be assumed he was telling the FBI agents to let him know as much as they told Hoover about the most secret investigations.

His sweeping statement can be interpreted as meaning McCarthy trusts no one in the government to protect the nation except, in the end, himself, and that the only way the country can be sure the government is being run right is if McCarthy has all the most secret information about it.

He did more than that. He was urging every government employee to decide for himself, in disobeying presidential secrecy orders, what was good for the country and to tell McCarthy. The senator said he was authorized to receive such information as chairman of a Senate committee which checks on government spending.

The White House promptly said McCarthy was trying to "usurp" the President's powers. One thing is certain: if federal employees carried out McCarthy's request in all cases, the President would have lost control. No official could trust any employee.

Government employees qualified to handle classified information are supposed to have been cleared as loyal by an FBI investigation. If McCarthy has been given an FBI check, it is not publicly known.

But McCarthy is asking for secret information. Yet he would be the first to complain if a government employee, even though he publicly proclaimed himself anti-Communist, was allowed to handle classified material without an FBI check.

Magellan's Grave

By ARNOLD C. BRACKMAN

Fresh evidence has been unearthed to show that explorer Ferdinand and Magellan, whose ship Victoria was the first to circumnavigate the globe, died in Indonesia in 1540 and not in the Philippines as taught to children at elementary schools the world over.

The textbook version claims that Magellan was slain in the southern Philippines by the king of Mactan on April 7, 1521. The new, documented claim is that Magellan died in the Celebes, the huge spidery shaped island of East Indonesia, and only after he had established a personal kingdom in that rich region.

This startling discovery is claimed by R. I. Mantiri, a captain in the Indonesian Air Force who has spent more than 15 years tracing the story.

His case, now in manuscript form, is supported by photographs of 90-odd tombs claimed to be of Portuguese and Spanish origin discovered in the vicinity of Manado, the present-day capital of the northern Celebes and center of the world's major source of copra (dried coconut). The uncovering of these tombs has long provided archaeologists with an unsolved puzzle.

Mantiri has also painstakingly set down the names of 527 landowners in the region whose names he contends can be linguistically traced to the Iberian Peninsula. He includes his own on the list.

This is Mantiri's story based on the evidence he has gathered: Magellan, in the course of his travels, visited the Celebes briefly, returned to the Philippines in 1521, and then dispatched his ship Victoria to Spain with the story of his death.

Meanwhile Magellan and his Japanese second-in-command, (whose name is still lost) revisited the Celebes in 1525, and founded a new kingdom. With the story of his death circulated freely in Europe, Magellan was able to continue his secret efforts to nurture the growth of his own kingdom, unmolested by the great empires of the period.

In the Celebes, members of his party changed their names. Magellan himself became Turang Wilelaki or great leader. He and his men intermarried and settled down. Tombs in the area today reveal mausoleums with strong Spanish and Inca - Peruvian influence. Friezes on some tombs depict Europeans armed with North African scimitars and wearing Spanish berets.

One tomb with a cherry blossom motif is believed to be the grave of Magellan's second-in-command.

Otherwise unaccountable customs and traditions in the northern Celebes today strengthen this version. Only in this part of Indonesia do the natives use carts modeled on the ancient Spanish Andalusian style. Here, too, the Indonesians wear Inca-type ceremonial beaded dresses for their dances.

Moreover, the northern Celebes abounds in the anao, a variety of wild cow hitherto supposedly found only in Peru. (Mantiri believes that Magellan brought these animals with him from South America.)

Official history contends that Spain held parts of the Celebes for several months in the 16th century but was driven out by the Dutch in 1560. It is considered virtually impossible, however, that such great evidence of Spanish, Portuguese and Inca civilization would be left behind after such a brief Spanish rule.

Another weak point in the official version of history is that Magellan supposedly had been in the Philippines only one month when he met his death. During that time he is supposed to have founded a settlement, married the Mactan king's daughter, built a Christian Church and converted the inhabitants of Cebu to Catholicism—an almost unbelievable series of accomplishments for a 30-day period.

Thoughts For Today

For thou hast been a strength to the poor, a strength to the needy in his distress, a refuge from the storm, a shadow from the heat, when the blast of the terrible ones is as a storm against the wall.—Isaiah 25:4.

Not a sorrow, not a burden, not a temptation, not a bereavement, not a disappointment, not a care, not a groan or tear, but has its antidote in God's rich and inexhaustible resources.—George Lorimer.

British And The Geneva Conference

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The British are beginning to learn that the sole purpose of the Geneva Conference, from the Soviet standpoint, has been to create a climate favorable for splitting Great Britain from the United States.

While Geneva goes on meeting and speaking, the conquest of Indochina continues and a well-timed diversion is established in Guatemala. The Soviet timetable of world disorder and world conquest moves apace, but should the British stand firmly with the United States on the organization of a Pacific NATO, the whole atmosphere could change.

The Asiatics have come so to believe in the inevitability of Russian successes that they assumed that the split between the United States and Great Britain was inevitable.

EVERY DEFECTION, every misunderstanding, every speech on the subject in the British Parliament has been played up as indicative of the trend. The Asiatics also assumed that public opinion in the United States would not tolerate the United States going alone in Indochina or anywhere else in Asia.

The test of American strength would be whether the countries in Asia with which we have security treaties would stand by us or by Great Britain should a split come. John Foster Dulles himself described the importance of this group of nations:

"My recollection of this effort goes back to 1951, when I negotiated treaties with the Philippines and Australia and New Zealand. These treaties recognize that that area is one of vital importance to the United States. These treaties also recognize, and were cited, that they were only a beginning—only initial steps, toward the development of a more comprehensive system of security in the Pacific area."

This will be done on eclipse day — June 30 — by timing the first and last contact of the moon's shadow with the sun at various points during the approximately two and three-quarter hours on a 3,000 mile path from Nebraska to Pakistan.

It will be the most comprehensive study of a solar eclipse in history, according to an announcement by Georgetown University whose astronomers, under a contract with the Air Force Research Command, will take part in the program. Co-operating agencies include the American Geographical Society, Ohio State University and the University of Chicago.

For independent investigations, complicated instruments will be set up at places like Knob Lake, Ontario, and the Okak Islands off the coast of Labrador. One reason for all the fuss: there will not be another eclipse crossing North America and Europe before 2151.

This June's eclipse will start in Nebraska at sunrise and proceed through Eastern Canada, Labrador, southern Greenland, Iceland, the Faroe and Shetland Islands, southern Norway and Sweden, Russia, Iran, Afghanistan and Pakistan. Along this path four major and eight minor observing stations will be set up, the latter along the edges of the 80-mile shadow.

The Georgetown station, under the direction of Rev. Francis J. Hayden, will be in Iran. It is expected also that Russian astronomers will to accommodate British opinion. Formosa has been excluded from this group. Pakistan has a separate arrangement with the United States, Japan and the Republic of Korea must be included. But the heart of the problem was and is, what would Great Britain do?

THE FORMAL position of Great Britain has been that Geneva must be completed before the British would do anything further about the Pacific.

It would seem that Molotov and Chou En-lai overplayed their hand. Geneva could go on forever, a Panmunjon style endless talk, while the Soviet universal state conquered Indochina and moved on to Thailand. This obviously is an intolerable situation for the British as it is for the United States.

How long can Anthony Eden listen to the nerve-wracking, insulting speeches delivered at Geneva by Molotov, Chou and the other Soviet representatives?

It is in this atmosphere that the British are having another look at Geneva. They have not experienced a Chinese truce conference such as we experienced at Panmunjon. In his book, "From the Danube to the Yalu," Gen. Mark Clark describes what such a conference can become:

"The Communists did not want to give up the propaganda platform at Panmunjon unless they had to. There were too many things they could say and do there to help their cause everywhere. . . . 'Vituperative lies and distortions flowed in great abundance from the nimble tongue of Nam II who had the ability to voice the most blatant falsehoods while keeping a straight face.

"Among the propaganda charges he hurled across the conference table were the flat declarations that America had 'press-ganged' Great Britain, France and other nations into fighting against communism in Korea, and that the United States wanted all Korea as a colony from which to invade China and start World War III.

The mere fact that America, Britain and France sent troops thousands of miles to fight in Korea, he said, proved that America and the United Nations were the aggressors."

IT IS EVEN so at Geneva, but in the Swiss city the goal is not only to find time and to make propaganda but to split an alliance. The error may have been Guatemala. For in the Caribbean, Great Britain's possessions are important and they are in peril.

One is reminded of the Canning-Rush correspondence which preceded the declaration of the Monroe Doctrine in the formulation of which Great Britain played so significant a role.

At any rate, it would now appear that the alliance is not to collapse. A British decision on policy would have to be considered by Canada as well as Australia and New Zealand and could affect the Indian countries of the Commonwealth.

A change of direction by Britain could be momentous.

Moon As a Measuring Rod

By THOMAS R. HENRY

When the moon slides in front of the sun this June, it will probably be the most gazed-at celestial occurrence in science's history.

Such scientific feats will be attempted as measuring the distance between North America and Europe — with results expected to be accurate within a fraction of an inch — to determine if the continents are on the move.

This will be done on eclipse day — June 30 — by timing the first and last contact of the moon's shadow with the sun at various points during the approximately two and three-quarter hours on a 3,000 mile path from Nebraska to Pakistan.

It will be the most comprehensive study of a solar eclipse in history, according to an announcement by Georgetown University whose astronomers, under a contract with the Air Force Research Command, will take part in the program. Co-operating agencies include the American Geographical Society, Ohio State University and the University of Chicago.

For independent investigations, complicated instruments will be set up at places like Knob Lake, Ontario, and the Okak Islands off the coast of Labrador. One reason for all the fuss: there will not be another eclipse crossing North America and Europe before 2151.

This June's eclipse will start in Nebraska at sunrise and proceed through Eastern Canada, Labrador, southern Greenland, Iceland, the Faroe and Shetland Islands, southern Norway and Sweden, Russia, Iran, Afghanistan and Pakistan. Along this path four major and eight minor observing stations will be set up, the latter along the edges of the 80-mile shadow.

The Georgetown station, under the direction of Rev. Francis J. Hayden, will be in Iran. It is expected also that Russian astronomers will observe the path through Soviet territory, although they have kept their plans quiet.

Three methods of time observation will be used. One photographs directly the crescents of the sun as the moon passes between it and the earth. Another shows the reversed spectrum as the moon passes. The third measures the sun's decreasing light intensity.

Because the speed of the moon's shadow and the precise time of its locations will be determined, distances can be computed with extreme accuracy.

With new tables recently completed by Yale scientists, the moon was recognized as the most accurate of all timekeepers. Thus it will be possible to compute the distance between any two points along the eclipse path.

Precise distance between North America and Europe is of considerable theoretical importance. Scientists say there is some reason to believe that the two land masses may be drifting either away from or toward each other, as is assumed to have happened in the past.

So slow would be any drift, however, that it could be computed only by radio transmission intervals over periods of years. Results to date have been vague, due in part to inadequate knowledge of precise distances.

All the measurements along the path will require split-second timing and all the instruments must be in absolute readiness to go into action. The most intensive work at each site must be completed in a period of little more than three minutes, including the few moments before, during and after the total eclipse phases.

New York State had 168,442 people over 65 years old in 1870 and has an estimated 1,450,000 today.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

A Neglected Opportunity

This column rather wished that the McCarthy-Army quiz had somehow been combined with the recent battle over the trailing of Granny Hamner, baseball star, by a private eye. Baseball and the Polomac proceeding have much in common. Millions of TV fans have been keeping a box score of hints and errors. The performances by some principals in the Washington quiz have brought questions whether the performers and kept in shape by retiring early, or perhaps, needed trailing by private operatives to keep them in it. We had hoped the probers might work Granny Hamner into the quiz for color.

Q—Granny, do you think it necessary to retire early to stay in shape?

A—May I consult my notes?

Q—That is not responsive. We are trying to bring out whether we could all do better with more sleep.

A—More sleep by the committee or by the TV audience.

Q—Strike that I ask you the direct question: Do you know whether any principal in this hearing has been trailed?

A—I can't answer that. I have a directive from the White House, both big leagues, the attorney general and the United Nations that this is restricted information.

Tommy Henrich, famous ex-Yankee baseball star, has taken a job as president of a big brewery. . . . We may soon come to a day when the sports pages will report a trade in which a brewery has sent a pitcher to a ball club in exchange for a couple of outfielders. . . . We may even hear of a ballplayer released to a brewer, or farmed out to a bungstarter maker.

What America needs most is a rebellion against the 75-cent shave and the $1.25 haircut.

"Eer Gives Reds Two Weeks to Show They Want Peace"—headline. That's the answer to "Pop, what's an optimist?"

For high comedy in the Washington TV probe nothing has equalled this passage between Joe McCarthy and Secretary Stevens, viz: Q—Did you talk with others? A—I probably did. Q—Who? A—Will you repeat that question?

Had anybody abruptly asked us, "Wanna be introduced to a tree?" we would have been pretty well stunned. "You should get around and know more of 'em" would have flabbergasted us. We had gone through life assuming some of our best friends were trees. Suddenly came the questions: "Wanna meet a Western Soapberry?" "How about a blind date with a Tupelo or Shadbush?" and "May I present my friend the Large-Toothed Aspen? She's a sister of the Quaking Aspen." They were almost total strangers, we realized. It all came about through a new book by John Kieran "Introduction to Trees," an extra informative and beautifully illustrated tome. It filled us, as it may fill nine out of ten folks, with a sense of inextinguishable ignorance, since trees are around everywhere.

As Mr. Kieran says in a foreword "Most birds are migratory and we have to be alert to see them at the right time at the right place. Most of our wild flowers have a brief blooming period. But trees we have always with us. With them there is no hurry. You can walk slowly and take your time. They will wait for you."

Stockholders of General Motors voted down the idea of a woman director. . . . Wanted power, not glamor, steering no doubt. . . . but we would think the auto industry was one industry where woman's hand would be welcomed, since nearly all the sales talks are directed at her. We could oppose a gal director in an auto corporation only on the grounds she might try to back up, even at directors meetings.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Predictions put few potatoes in the kitchen pots of the unemployed.

But the 4,000,000 jobless — or 5,000,000, depending on whose estimate you take — will be streaming to work by mid-October or early next year, again depending on whose analysis you take, that of the White House or that of its labor critics.

But there is agreement that the recession is no serious depression. There is agreement that it will run its unhappy course sometime with in the next eight or 10 months. There is agreement that, in the meantime, it won't get too much worse, even if it doesn't get too much better.

This thinking about the slump is not limited to just a few labor leaders in industries which haven't been hit hard. It's the estimate of the economists who advise the leaders of the AFL and even the CIO, who are the severest critics of the administration.

The basic satisfaction that can be squeezed out of all this is that Republicans and New Dealers alike feel that the jobless need to be helped to stretch their dwindling savings only another five to 10 months.

THIS DOESN'T mean, however, that labor leaders such as George Meany or Walter Reuther will ease up their criticism of the White House approach to the slump. First of all, the labor people are bitter because they have not been contacted or consulted on President Eisenhower's anti-depression plans.

They say that when President Eisenhower appointed Dr. Arthur Burns to head his economic brain-trust, word was unofficially passed on to the AFL and CIO that their views and suggestions would be sought. Labor's economists say that if they were operating on a floating Arctic ice island they would not see, or hear from, the White House economists any less frequently than they have thus far.

The sharpest difference between the government's approach and that of labor is in determining what is an economic danger signal. Labor's economists in the national AFL and CIO headquarters ring the fire bell when the jobless total hits 2,500,000.

The administration believes that with over 60,000,000 working, 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 jobless must be helped in some fashion, but are not signs of a depression requiring heavy federal government programs. There is a belief in high government circles that we are beginning to right ourselves now.

Although the basic decisions on re- armament haven't been made, we are nonetheless slipping into in-tailment plan defense production right now. Observe the guided missile program.

IT'S BEING developed in plants manned for the most part by members of the AFL's International Assn. of Machinists, a 900,000-member union led by one of labor's intellectuals, Al J. Hayes. Its people see the guided missile industry developing into one of the nation's major businesses. We're behind the Russians in producing this gimmick, with which one nation can bombard another's cities 8,000 or 10,000 miles away. So production is being speeded.

CARNIVAL

"Before you sound off, Elmo, please understand that these purchases were final and not subject to refund or exchange!"

There is, for example, the Consolidated Vultee plant near Los Angeles. It has tremendous guided missile orders. The union now has only several hundred members there. Soon it expects some 25,000 to be taken on.

There's also increased missile production expected at Bell Aircraft, Douglas Aircraft and Lockheed Aircraft — not to forget the companies outside the airplane industry and the thousands of feeder plants needed to supply parts to the new industry.

million dollars a year to the paychecks of 2,000,000 workers in these fields.

About $100 million of this sum will come automatically for 1,000,000 workers in the auto and aircraft industries covered by Walter Reuther's union contracts giving them a five cents an hour increase by mid-June.

This money springs from an annual improvement clause in recognition of increased efficiency and productivity. The rest of the money — due this summer — will result from wage increases for over 1,000,000 workers belonging to David McDonald's CIO Steelworkers' Union.

There will be many, many other defense orders and wage increases. Looks like no 1930 for us.

Overfriendly Boss

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (U)—What can the poor working girl do to protect herself against "the overfriendly boss?"

I thought this problem went out about the time "Bessie, the Sewing Machine Girl" was a big hit. But apparently it didn't, and now Congress may have to consider it in revising the Taft-Hartley Act.

An office worker, writing to Patricia Porter of the Boston Traveler, recently raised the question of "how to discourage the office boss from conveniently placing his hands on (a girl's) shoulders, arms or back while discussing business matters."

Admitting that it was a touchy subject and that often such gestures by the boss were completely friendly and an attempt to express their appreciation for work well done, the writer added, however:

"The majority of girls are embarrassed and uncomfortable when it occurs... none enjoy it... (and) it results more often in strained employer-employee relationship than in a friendly business-like one."

At a drugstore counter where a number of girls from several offices crunch down their malted milk lunches. I made an informal poll on what they thought about this problem of "the overfriendly boss."

Their reaction was mixed—and entirely feminine. Most of them said their own particular boss was more of a querulous old mouse than a wolf.

"It's the junior executives who act like office juvenile delinquents today," said one. "Every once in a while you meet one whose idea of exercise is to ask you to stay late and then chase you ten laps around the water cooler."

"My boss does pinch me every once in a while," said a plump young file clerk, blushing. "But he doesn't mean anything by it. He's the fatherly type. He says he just wants to be sure that I'm not getting undernourished."

"When my boss puts his arm on my shoulder, it's anything but love," remarked a stenographer. "He only does it after one of those four-martini, three-hour business luncheons, and he just wants someone to lean on until he can reach his swivel chair. What the guy really needs some days, though, is artificial respiration."

"Heavens, I wish my boss — or anybody else—would put his arm around me," said a secretary. "After 25 years behind the same old typewriter, I've forgotten what it feels like."

"I wish my boss would thaw out more," admitted another stenographer. "After all if he were trying to put his arm around me, he'd shut up about what a lousy speller I am."

The girls went into a huddle when I asked them what was the best way to curb an employer who really did insist on getting overfriendly on company time.

"Every time he reached for you," suggested one, "just ask him for a raise. Boy, his arm will flop down as if you'd hit it with a crowbar."

"Well, in the old days I guess a working girl always kept a hat-pin handy," said a second. "If my boss bothered me you know what I'd do? I'd sew half a dozen thumbtacks in the waist and shoulders of my dress—with the points sticking out. Imagine how he'd look after he pawed over three sharp thumbtacks."

The other girls laughed merrily at the mental picture of the boss winning his office purple heart the hard way. But they all agreed the cynical, middle-aged spinster secretary's suggestion was the best.

retary had an even better answer. "The best way for a girl to cure an overfriendly boss is to marry him" she said, acidly. "That seems to cool any man down."

IN THE SERVICE

Lt. Eugene Beckett

First Lt. Eugene F. Beckett of Columbiana recently arrived on Okinawa for duty with the Ryukyus Command's 8135th Army Unit.

Lieutenant Beckett, whose wife Esther, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Beckett, live on RD 2, was last stationed in Korea with the Korean Communications Zone's engineer section.

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR DIES

CLEVELAND (U)—Sven Emil Swanbeck, 90, associate professor emeritus of foreign languages at Case Institute of Technology here, died yesterday at his home in De Land, Fla. He retired in 1937 after 19 years at Case. A native of Sweden, he also had taught at Stoll College in Eau Claire, Wis., from 1890 to 1896.

Cpl. P. E. Gotthardt

Cpl. Phillip E. Gotthardt, son of Mrs. Helen Esterly of New Waterford, was awarded the Purple Heart, Combat Infantry Badge and Korean Campaign Ribbon with four stars in Seoul, Korea on Armed Forces Day, May 15, according to a letter received by Mrs. Esterly from her son.

The presentation was made by Gen. Maxwell Taylor, Army commander in Korea. Cpl. Gotthardt was wounded in Korea last May.

The soldier recently received a commendation for his maintenance on a jeep assigned to his core in Korea.

The commendation from Lt. Col. William G. Davidson, commander of the 35th Infantry regiment, included congratulations from his battalion and company commanders.

It stated that at an inspection for maintenance faults April 7 of the vehicles assigned to the regiment, Cpl. Gotthardt's vehicle was one of five "entirely free of deficiencies."

Social Affairs

Benefit Dance Held By Student Nurses

The Masonic Temple ballroom was transformed into a "Dutch Garden" for the benefit affair held by members of the Student Nurses Association of Salem City Hospital Saturday night.

Dancing centered around a windmill, and tulips and other spring flowers on trellises added to the Dutch effect. Proceeds from this May event will aid student nurses activities.

Chuck Wurster's orchestra played for dancing enjoyed by students, their escorts and various members of the medical staff at the hospital.

Joyce Flugan served as general chairman; Barbara Martin, decorating chairman; Carol Opre, tickets chairman; Betty Campbell, refreshments, and Esther Stecker, publicity. Mrs. Dorothy Diamond is class advisor.

Class Of Highland Church Plans Events

Alice Farmer was in charge of the business session at the Saturday meeting of the Loyal Lads and Lassies Class of Highland Christian Church, which was followed by choir practice.

Mrs. John Driscoll, class advisor, is pianist for the group. The members took part in discussion on examples of "the infinite variety of God's imagination."

The purchase of I.A.H. Club rings was planned. The members also discussed a hike; the children's day program June 13 and the Sunday School picnic at Centennial Park, June 26. The next meeting will be Saturday, June 19.

Mrs. Becker Hostess To Club Associates

Mrs. Charles Nelson and Mrs. Willis Seymour won the prizes when Mrs. Wesley Becker of Southeast Blvd. entertained members of the Wellome Pinocle Club in her home Thursday night.

Instead of the regular meeting in June, the women will have a party and entertain their husbands Saturday, June 19, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schnell of the Albany Road.

Mount Union Graduate

John T. Cope

John Thomas Cope, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cope of Depot Rd., is one of 127 seniors in the June graduating class at Mount Union college. Cope will receive his bachelor of arts degree with a major in sociology at commencement exercises Sunday afternoon, June 6.

Cope is a 1950 graduate of Salem High School and a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Pythian Sisters District Deputy Speaks Here

Mrs. Mildred Long of Girard, district deputy, made her annual visit and gave a talk at the regular meeting of the Pythian Sisters Thursday night in the K. of P. Hall.

Other visitors from Struthers, Girard and Washingtonville attended the session that was presided over by Mrs. Robert Kirchgesner.

Following a social hour, lunch was served by Mrs. Harry Sherwood and Mrs. E. H. Ward.

The next meeting is scheduled Thursday, June 10, in the hall.

To Entertain Mothers

Members of the Carol Choir of the First Presbyterian Church will entertain members of the Mothers Club Wednesday at 3:30 at a party.

The youngsters will present a play in song and all mothers are invited to attend. Mrs. Frank Huber is choir director.

Miss Margie Morris Is Feted At Shower

Miss Margie Morris of E. 6th St. was honored Friday night at a shower party at the home of Mrs. Roy Dickerhoof of the Western Reserve Road.

Clues concealed in pastel colored balloons told the bride-to-be where to find her gifts.

The refreshment table was centered with a miniature automobile decorated with streamers of pastel ribbons, a bouquet of spring flowers, a "just married" sign and tiny tin cans to resemble a "honeymoon" car.

White candles in wrought iron holders lighted the table, and candy filled white baskets decorated with miniature brides and grooms were favors. Mrs. Kenneth Wicksham poured at the buffet style luncheon served by the hostess.

Games entertained the guests, and prizes went to Mrs. Edward Zabawa, Mrs. Wicksham, Mrs. Warren Bandy and Mrs. John Riesen. A special prize was awarded to Mrs. Zabawa.

Miss Morris, the daughter of Mrs. Lavina Morris of Greenford, and Richard Zimmerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Zimmerman of N. Madison Ave. will be married in June.

Presbyterian Women To Meet Wednesday

Four Committees of the Presbyterian Women's Association will meet Wednesday.

Members of the April committee, with Mrs. Wayne Brown and Mrs. Robert Dunn, chairmen, will meet in the home of Mrs. A. Laten Carter at 1009 E. 6th St.

Mrs. Charles Mattevi and Mrs. Joseph Needham are chairmen of the December Committee which will entertain the October committee with Mrs. William A. Weber and Mrs. Roy Merrell, chairman, at 1:30 p.m. in Fellowship Hall.

Mrs. Harry Krohne will be hostess to members of the November Committee at 1:30 in her home on the Georgetown Rd.

The March group will meet for dessert at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. George H. Bell at RD 1, Salem.

Doce Gatos Members Hold Dinner Party

The Avalon Restaurant in Hanover was the scene of the annual dinner party for Doce Gatos members recently.

Seniors given their Doce Gatos pins were Helen Dicu, Donna Cocco, Betty Moore, Nance Zeck, Doris McNamee and Joan Hart. The May 25 meeting of the club took place at the Russell Moore cottage at Sevakene Lake when Betsy Moore was hostess.

Miss Moore presided at the business meeting and Kay Paxson opened and closed the meeting with scripture. Betsy Rice will be hostess at the meeting Tuesday at her home on 5th St.

Gust Hoperichs, Wed 41 Years, Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Gust Hoperich of RD 3, Salem, had the help of their children and grandchildren in the celebration of their 41st wedding anniversary Sunday at a picnic dinner at the home of their daughter, Viola, at Guilford Lake.

The children presented their parents with a gift for their home.

Salem Girl Wins Post On College Newspaper

Miss Bonnie Manton Campbell has been named circulation manager of "Spilled Ink" at a recent election held on the campus of Centenary Junior College in Hackettstown, N.J.

Miss Campbell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Campbell of 805 South Lincoln Ave., Salem.

Frank Floding of St. Petersburg, Fla., former Salem druggist, is ill in the St. Anthony's Hospital there; relatives here have been advised.

Dance At Golf Club Enjoyed Saturday

Lodge's Dixie Land Band from East Liverpool played the dance program enjoyed by 67 couples at the Salem Golf Club "Memorial Holiday" dance Saturday night in the clubhouse.

The gala affair ended with breakfast. Alfred Konnerth headed the dance committee and Henry Zimmerman assisted.

65 Couples Enjoy Elks May Party

Dance students of Bill Cassidy entertained during intermission at the annual May party and dance attended by 65 couples Saturday night in the Elks Ballroom.

Heading the Elks lodge committee were Harold Pike, chairman. Bob Nezheth's orchestra played the dance program for Elks members, their wives and out-of-the-district guests.

During June, July, August and September members of the Elks Lodge will meet on the second and fourth Thursdays, instead of each Thursday. The next meeting, June 10, is designated as a birthday dinner and Flag Day observance.

Berean Class Enjoys 'School Days' Party

The closed pavilion at Centennial Park was the scene of the "School Days" party enjoyed by members of the Berean Class of the First Friends Church Friday night.

Women members came dressed fitting to the occasion and Mrs. Carl Krauss won the prize for wearing the biggest bow in her hair. John Volio won the men's prize.

William Schaeffer presided at the business session and all the members counted tax stamps. On the party committee were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Aiken, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Calvin, Mr. and Mrs. James Roessler and Mrs. Anna Crumb.

The next get-together will be Thursday, June 24. The July and August parties will be combined into a picnic affair.

Social Club of IOOF Plans Annual Dinner

Members of the Three Links Social Club of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will have their annual dinner party Friday, June 25 at Heck's restaurant.

Plans for this event were made at the Friday evening covered supper in I.O.O.F. hall. Clemmer Greenisen presided. Mrs. Greenisen won the special award and prizes in the "500" games went to Mrs. Stanley Howard and George Rogers.

Mrs. James Goodwin and Mrs. Alice Beck were hostess to 18 members.

The annual party will terminate the club's activities until Friday, Sept. 24.

Rita Swartz To Wed Donald Hilliard Sunday

The wedding of Miss Rita Swartz, daughter of Mrs. Juanita Swartz of RD 3, Salem and Tyrus Swartz of Garfield, to Airman Third Class Donald P. Hilliard, will take place Sunday, June 6, at 3 p.m. in Phillips Christian Church.

Custom of open church will be observed. The church pastor, Rev. D. G. Stewart, will officiate.

Invitations have been issued to the reception which will follow the wedding. The rehearsal will take place Saturday night.

The airman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hilliard of the Franklin Rd.

Joseph, Pauline and Mary Ellen Alessi of Franklin St. will spend the holiday in St. Louis where they will visit their brother and family. Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Alessi, whose son, William Joseph Alessi, will be christened Sunday. Middle Sandy Church To Hold Bible School

A two-week vacation Bible school, sponsored by the churches of the Homeworth community, will be held at the Middle Sandy Presbyterian Church of Homeworth, starting Monday, June 7.

The school will convene Monday through Friday from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and all children between the ages of four through 14 are invited. The daily program will include Bible study, singing, handwork and recreation adapted to the various age groups.

Children will bring sandwiches Friday, June 18, and stay for rehearsal of the public program and a moving picture. The closing public program Sunday, June 20, at 8 p.m. will include a handwork display, as well as dramatizations and singing, by the children.

A group of teachers and helpers has been enlisted from four different churches and the school director will be Rev. Donald K. McGarrath the host pastor. The school staff will appreciate assistance by interested adults in the transportation of neighbor children as well as their own.

Willow Grove Grange Has Baking Contest

Mrs. Floyd Stamp and Mrs. Lloyd Sanor won first and second place respectively, in the banana nut bread baking contest Friday night at Willow Grove Grange.

The program, arranged by the home economics committee, Mrs. Twila Hollabaugh, Mrs. Lowell Sanor and Mrs. William Sherwood, included a memorial service for former members. Mrs. Olive Burton, Elmer Althouse and Frank Fultz.

Musical selections for the services were "Abide With Me," "In the Garden," and "Meditation." Harry Sherwood and Don Sanor lighted the candles, and flowers were placed on the altar by Mrs. Harry Sherwood, Mrs. Don Sanor, Miss Iva Sanor and Mrs. Floyd Stamp, who served as chaplain. To close the service, Don Stamp played "Taps" in the distance.

The home economics committee served the lunch which featured the banana nut bread.

Friday, June 11, the grange will meet again.

35 lbs. LOST IN FIVE WEEKS

"Rennel is the most wonderful, easy way to reduce anyone could use," writes Miss Celinea Grub, Richmond, Ohio. "Before taking Rennel I was so short of breath and could not sleep. I felt so full and stuffy all the time. I weighed 165 lbs. Using Rennel I lost 35 lbs. in 5 weeks and I didn't experience one hungry minute. I sleep good, no gas or bloating anymore and I feel fine. I take a size 14 dress since I have lost this extra weight."

Your druggist has liquid RENNEL. Ask for free booklet. RENNEL has been proven and recommended by thousands of your Ohio neighbors. Satisfaction guaranteed with the first bottle or send to manufacturer for refund. You'll not be hungry reducing with RENNEL. Costs only $1.40.

Zocco will be associated in business with Mrs. Zocco's brother, Larry Faini. Mr. Zocco will be instructed in the art of diamond setting and jewelry-making by his brother-in-law, who operates the Larry jewelry store in Sioux Falls.

Obituary

Mrs. Paul Farmer

LEETONIA — Mrs. Mayme Farmer, 72, of RD 2, Leetonia died today at 2:10 a.m. in Salem City Hospital. She had been ill about three months.

She was born in Leetonia, Nov. 1, 1882, a daughter of Lymal and Rebecca Anglemeyer Waddell.

She was a member of St. Jacobs Church and a seven-degree member of Midway Grange.

She was married March 11, 1903, to Paul Farmer.

Besides her husband, she leaves three brothers, James and Frank of RD 2, Leetonia and Roy of RD 1, Leetonia; two sisters, Mrs. Wilford Farmer of the Lisbon-Teegarden Road and Mrs. Lulu Dickens of Austintown.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Woods Funeral Home here. Friends may call Wednesday evening at the funeral home.

Burial will be in Highland Church Cemetery on the Teegarden Road.

Mrs. W. S. Van Fossan

LISBON — Mrs. Lunette B. Van Fossan, 92, who was the oldest living member of the Lisbon Christian Church and one of Columbiana County's oldest residents, died at the home of her daughter, with whom she resided, Miss Clara Van Fossan of Calcutta Monday at 4:45 p.m.

She had been ill the past several years.

Born in Columbiana County, June 26, 1861, she was the daughter of Freeman and Catherine Stump Morrison. Her husband, W. S. Van Fossan, died in May, 1920.

She leaves six other daughters, Mrs. Eudora King of Lisbon, Mrs. Delza Horn of Alliance, Mrs. Verna Boulton of East Liverpool, Mrs. Marjorie Butler and Mrs. Edna Hawkins of Steubenville, and Mrs. Frances Downs of Akron; a son, George W. of RD 1, Leetonia; 15 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be Thursday at 2 p.m. at the Eells-Leggett Funeral Home, with Rev. Cyril W. Houston of the Christian Church officiating. Burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday afternoon and evening.

including Sebring Dads, and Disabled American Veterans, also took part in the Grandview program.

The American Legion memorial squad contingent carried the shrouded flag of the Grand Army of the Republic to Hope Cemetery.

Archie Bricker was master of ceremonies at Hope Cemetery. He introduced Rev. C. Clare Davis, pastor of the First Methodist Church, who served as chaplain, and Harmon Zepernick, who read General John Logan's orders, setting aside the 30th of May for a memorial observance.

Three Salem High School students took part in the program. Sandy Hansell, for the fourth successive year delivered "Lincoln's Gettysburg Address."

"Flanders' Fields" was presented by Barbara Tausch and "The Response" by Ann Baker.

Howard Kingdom of Conneaut, department commander of the American Legion, declared in his talk at Hope Cemetery, "The sacrament of flowers, the sounds of taps, the many orations and visits to graves will always have a very deep significance; but let us not forget that our servicemen did not die to be honored with tears, flags and flowers. They died so that the future would be better than the past."

Kingdom said, "Memorial Day should be a day to look over the horizon and a day of dedication—to make sure our case is right; to make certain we are strong; to seek peace with freedom and honor and to guarantee that those who fight tomorrow's war will not face death unless it is absolutely necessary, and will not die in vain."

In conclusion the department commander emphasized, "The future is in our hands. It is for us to have Memorial Day dedicated to thought, prayer and work for an enduring peace so that millions on earth will have the chance to live their lives in freedom from want and fear."

Commander Bricker gave recognition to members of the Women's Relief Corps, Daughters of Union Veterans and American Legion Auxiliary.

the Salem V.F.W. post, presided at Grandview Cemetery where a large crowd heard Rev. R. J. Hunter, pastor of the First Baptist Church, declare, "Our civic gatherings on Memorial Day are not alone to celebrate the patriotism of our forefathers but also to perpetuate that spirit of devotion which characterized them."

Rev. Hunter reminded his listeners "to consider the two pillars of American democracy, religious liberty and equal opportunity for all." He said, "The Bill of Rights significantly placed religious liberty at the head of the list. This is essential to all other freedoms, take this away and ultimately all others crumble."

In conclusion the minister declared "The spirit of determination at all costs to obtain liberty made us a great nation. Only this spirit will keep it great and free, and insure posterity that this priceless heritage shall be theirs."

Rev. Fr. Richard Gaffney served as chaplain.

At both cemeteries firing squads shot volleys into the air and bugles sounded taps.

Prior to the services, members of all cooperating patriotic bodies, Sons of Union Veterans, Daughters of Union Veterans, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans and Amvets, decorated servicemen's graves at Hope, Grandview and other vicinity cemeteries with flags and flowers.

Traffic duty was performed by Boy Scouts.

All the children marching in the parade were given passes to see a movie Thursday at the State Theater arranged through the cooperation of the manager, N. I. Walken.

taken sides in a disagreement between McCarthy and the Eisenhower administration over whether federal employees should furnish the senator with information labeled secret and bearing on communism or corruption.

In a somewhat related matter, McCarthy declared last week he will fight against allowing Democratic members of the subcommittee to see any files which contain the names of his informants.

He said he based the stand on a suggestion by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) that McCarthy may have been guilty of a low violation by receiving secret security information.

That led McCarthy to urge the government's two million workers "to give us any information which they have about graft, corruption, communism." He said it is the duty of federal workers to do so and "there is no loyalty to a superior officer which can tower above and beyond their loyalty to their country."

Atty. Gen. Brownell countered with a statement, issued at the White House, saying the executive branch of the government has responsibility for enforcing the laws, including those dealing with national security. The statement continued:

"That responsibility cannot be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of the land or to override the orders of the President."

Supports McCarthy
Sen. Young (R-N.J.) said today in an interview he thinks "it is very important" that Congress get the kind of information McCarthy seeks.

Young, secretary of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said he regards it as "natural" for the executive department to try to withhold information and natural for Congress to seek it," and he added:

"At times it is very important that Congress get information. For instance, many tax frauds might never have been exposed if government employees had not given information to Sen. Williams (R-Del). Alger Hiss might never have been exposed if information had not been given to Sen. Mundt (R-SD)."

Sees Ike-McCarthy Fight

On the other hand, Sen. Duff (R-Pa) commented in an ABC television interview last night he thinks the McCarthy-Army hearings have turned into a contest over the issue between the Wisconsin senator and President Eisenhower.

Duff, an early Eisenhower backer, was asked if he would vote in the Senate to censure McCarthy, and he replied: "I would, unqualifiedly."

Sen. Lehman (D-Lib-NY), who has frequently tangled with McCarthy, said in a statement last night that the Wisconsin senator, in his bid to federal workers for information, "was presumptuous enough to offer to absolve all government employees of any guilt from wrongdoing in violating the laws."

26 Oil, Chemical Unions May Merge

CLEVELAND — The CIO Oil Workers Union opens a special three-day meeting today to vote on a proposed merger of 26 CIO, AFL and independent labor groups into a new Oil and Chemical Workers International Union.

O. A. Knight, president of the CIO Oil Workers, said the combined unions would have a potential membership of a million men in the oil, chemical and allied industries. Another union spokesman said petroleum firms were opposing any such merger.

More than 250 delegates representing 130,000 CIO oil workers are attending the meeting here. The union represents workers in the oil fields and refineries and those employed on pipelines and in whole sale deliveries.

Following the three-day meeting, the union's policy committee plans to meet here to map a wage drive. The present average hourly wage of oil workers is $2.25.

Chester Roof To Talk At Bankers' Meeting

Chester L. Roof, assistant cashier of the Farmers National Bank, will take part in the Ohio Bankers Association farm credit conference June 3 and 4 at Columbus.

Arranged jointly by the farm management and rural economics department of Ohio State University, and the agricultural committee of the Ohio Bankers Association, the event will offer a day and a half program of practical talks and discussions for Ohio bankers.

Mr. Roof's address to the group will occur on the second day of the meeting and his topic will be "What Can An Agricultural Representative Do For His Bank?"

E. M. Stephenson, president of the Farmers Bank, will accompany Roof.

Police To Serve On Narcotics Committee

Three Salem police officers will represent the Quaker City Lodge, Fraternal Order of Police, on the recently-formed Ohio Citizens Narcotics Committee.

They are Patrolmen Martin Lutch, president of the police order; Police Chief Nerr Gaunt, and County Juvenile Officer Cornelius Csepke, recording secretary of the group.

The narcotics committee was formed by Attorney General William O'Neill to familiarize citizens with the narcotics problem in the state so that it might be better controlled.

4-H Club News

Four Leaf 4-H'ers met May 21 at Fairview School. Vice President Donna Staufeneger opened the meeting with the flag pledge and the 4-H pledge. Twenty-one members answered roll call by naming their favorite flower, and they exchanged names for "Secret Sisters."

Project books were distributed. Group singing was led by Nancy Brandley, and Carol Kenst, a new member, entertained by singing several songs.

Lunch was served by Beverly Turner and Rose Marie Ludwig. The next meeting will be June 4 at Fairview School. Martha Leone and Carole Kenst will serve on the lunch committee.

Indians Split With Chicago, Head East For Yankee Series

Houtteman Wins 3rd Victory

Keegan Stops Tribe;
Hoskins Is Recalled

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, still holding a one-game lead in first place, took a rest today before heading east for two weeks of play.

An even split with the second-place Chicago White Sox yesterday left the club's "Big Three" hurling staff rested and ready for the opening of a three-game series with the New York Yankees tomorrow night.

Early Wynn will go up against the Yankees' Allie Reynolds in the first game, Bob Lemon will meet New York's Ed Lopat Thursday and Mike Garcia will go to the firing line for the Tribe Friday. New York hasn't announced its hurler for the final game yet.

The White Sox, who halted the Indians' 11-game winning streak in Chicago last Tuesday night, turned around yesterday and snapped the Clevelanders' string of home victories at 14.

Bob Keegan notched his seventh victory in taking the first of the Memorial Day tussles by a 6-4 margin, and Art Houtteman won his third contest as Cleveland earned a 6-3 win in the second game.

The Tribe rapped a total of 24 hits in the two games, four of them by Bobby Avila, the league's leading hitter who raised his average to .388. George Strickland and Jim Hegan also contributed four hits apiece.

Minnie Minoso's eighth homer of the season was the big blow in the opener, driving in Nellie Fox who had singled, and breaking up a 3-3 seventh-inning tie.

Bob Feller, who was touched for 13 hits, was the loser. It was his first loss against one victory.

Hegan's seventh-inning homer that broke another 3-3 tie was the big blow in the second game. The club then went on to score two more runs for insurance before the inning was completed.

At the end of the game, the Tribe announced the sale of catcher Joe Ginsberg to its Indianapolis farm club and the recall from Indianapolis of pitcher Dave Hoskins. Ginsberg, acquired from Detroit last season, had appeared in only three games this year.

Hoskins, regarded as highly promising, will rejoin the club in New York tomorrow. He was optioned to the farm club last month.

Thistledown Opens Its Racing Season

CLEVELAND (AP)—Thistledown takes up today where Ascot Park left off yesterday — supplying northeastern Ohio with horse racing.

The three million dollar racing plant will have 42 days of continuous programs, with post time daily at 2:15 p. m.

The track's racing secretary, Fred Burton, estimates he will have some 1,100 steeds to choose from in making up his daily cards for the first week, and probably an additional 400 mounts after that.

Two Kentucky Derby starters, Timely Tip and Ace Destroyer, are ready to run here along with such other campaigners as Natchez Girl, Pinet, Cajole, Shag Tails and Big Money.

The total purse distribution for the meeting will be a record $800,000 with daily minimums at a new high of $1800 per race. The top events in the meeting will be the twin $25,000 added Ohio Derby July 10 and the Thistledown Cup July 17.

Ascot Park at Akron closed out its 39-day season with a mutual handle of $406,402, bringing the total for the meeting to $9,282,875. That compares with $10,596,024 for a 44-day meet in 1953 and $9,836,714 for 44 days in 1952.

MSC, OSU Battle For NCAA Playoff Berth

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The final game of a best-of-three series was scheduled here today between Michigan State and Ohio University after the teams split a double-header yesterday. Winner of today's game will represent the Midwest region 4 in the NCAA college baseball little world series at Omaha, Neb., June 10-14. Yesterday Michigan State won the opener, 14-10, but lost the nightcap to Ohio University, 7-0. The flip of a coin decided that if today's game is rained out Michigan State would be the automatic winner.

Berlin Yacht Club Opens New Season

"Tune up races" were a part of the Sunday activities of members of the Berlin Yacht Club, with the official races got underway Memorial Day. Monday's races earned the members points for the competition of the season.

Willard Albertsen is commodore this year. Joseph Pidgeon serves as racing committee chairman; Olaf Dilworth, docks chairman and Bob Snyder and F. Troy Cope Jr. as social chairman of the club.

A REASON WHY—Harvey Kuenn gives you an idea of why the Tigers have proved so rough in the early going. The Detroit shortstop does a jackknife swerving around White Sox catcher Sherman Lollar's attempt at a lunging tag to successfully slide and score after tagging up on fly. (NEA)

Bill Vukovich Wins Indianapolis Race, Bryan Finishes Second, McGrath Third

By DALE BURGESS

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Without taking any credit from a great driver in Bill Vukovich's second straight 500-mile auto race victory yesterday, the cold statistics show that his pit crew deserves a big chunk of cash when the purse is distributed tonight.

Jack McGrath, who holds the Indianapolis Motor Speedway qualifying record, set out to run off from the field like Vukovich did last year. He was screaming around the track at an almost impossible 140 miles an hour early in the contest.

Vukovich won and McGrath finished in third place behind hard-driving Jimmy Bryan of Phoenix.

Vukovich was 1:09.59 ahead of Bryan and 1:57 ahead of McGrath. Vukovich had made two pit stops for fuel and tires and his crew got him back on the track with a total loss of 1:42. Bryan had to make three stops and lost 2:04. McGrath stopped three times and lost 3:39, including once when his engine stalled.

Fresno friends of the short, dark and untalkative Vukovich probably will contend, with considerable reason, that if Vukovich hadn't held a full lap lead over Bryan late in the race, he would have been pushing his fuel injector special even faster than his new record of 130.84 m.p.h. He certainly wasn't loafing after starting in 19th place.

McGrath, from South Pasadena, Calif., had a phenomenal average speed of 139.860 for the first 50 miles and Bryan was hardly a car length behind him at that point.

McGrath reported later he was forced to abandon the torrid pace because of magneto trouble. He said he was faced with the choice

Salem Riders Defeated 15-7

Harbor Hills Scores 7 Goals In 4th Period

The Salem Polo Club went down to a 15-7 defeat Monday afternoon at the hands of hard-riding Columbus Harbor Hills at the Ellsworth Road Field.

With Hills leading 6-2 at the half, the game was suddenly broken wide open in the fourth chucker as Columbus scored seven goals in one period — a record in local polo circles. In that big period, the winners tallied three times in a minute and a half.

The two teams battled almost evenly the remainder of the contest. Columbus jumped out to a quick 4-0 lead in the first period, and, in the third, both teams scored twice. Then came the deciding fourth, which left Columbus out in front 13-3 as Salem managed only one goal in that period.

The locals, finally finding their shooting eye, registered three goals in the fifth and one more in the sixth. Hills added a lone counter in each of the last two periods.

Harry Frick and Jim Pidgeon led Salem's scoring with a pair of goals each, while Wilford Smith, Harry Frick, Tony Sheen and Lloyd Brunner had one apiece.

For the winners, Frank Harris and Bud Myers recorded five goals each, Otis Harris had four, while veteran Walt Schapter netted one tally.

A good-sized crowd again witnessed the affair. Salem's next game will be Sunday afternoon with Cleveland at the local field. Game time will be 3 p.m.

The lineups:

Salem—7
1. Smith
2. Pidgeon
3. Sheen
4. Bates
Substitutes: Frick, Brunner.

Columbus—15
1. O. Harris
2. Bud Myers
3. F. Harris

Red Sox Take Pair From A's 20-10, 9-0; Yanks, Nats Split

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

The next 30 days should decide the fate of Boston in the 1954 American League race. Will the Red Sox bloom in June or are they doomed to second division?

After a horrible spring of injuries and bad weather forced Lou Boudreau to go with a make-do lineup that didn't, the new month finds the Red Sox settling in for an 18-game home stand in friendly Fenway Park.

They own a three-game winning streak for the first time this season. They've gotten route-going performances from their pitchers in two of their last three contests. And Ted Williams is due to start busting out all over after being in action for two weeks.

If the Red Sox can't move now there isn't much hope they will after the midway point since the first division teams already have a good jump. Boston is 11½ games out of first place.

Boston was the only club in either league to sweep a Memorial Day double-header yesterday. They buried Philadelphia 20-10 in the highest scoring display of the league season, then mopped up 9-0 in the nightcap.

The Cleveland Indians stayed a game ahead of the Chicago White Sox in first place by whipping the eighth-inning home run after losing 6-4 as Bob Keegan posted his seventh victory in eight decisions.

Washington's senators, who cause the New York Yankees more trouble than the world champions 1-0 on Johnny Schmitz' three-hit game. Then they pushed the second game into extra innings before bowing 7-6 in 10. Spec Shea forced home the winning run with a bases-loaded walk.

Detroit rallied in the ninth for a 7-5 victory at Baltimore, then lost 4-2 to the Orioles.

In the National League, rain washed out Cincinnati's double-header with the first-place Milwaukee Braves and cut the Chicago St. Louis twin bill to a single seven-inning contest won by the Cubs 14-4 on six home runs, two by Hank Sauer.

Brooklyn beat Philadelphia 5-4 on Gil Hodges' 12th-inning home run in a single game. Pittsburgh split with the New York Giants, winning 4-3 after losing on three hits to Ruben Gomez 4-0.

The only significant shift in the standings came in the American League. Boston moved from seventh to sixth and Baltimore from eighth to seventh as Philadelphia dropped to last.

The Red Sox' big day included 27 hits, five of them home runs. Milt Bolling hit two, Williams, Jim Piersall and Harry Agganis got one each.

Bill Henry scattered seven hits in the second-game shutout, his third complete game of the year. A punt, an error, an infield out and Mickey Vernon's single produced the one run Washington needed to beat New York in the opener. Casey Stengel argued the punt hit batter Eddie Yost's cap and got tossed out of the game for his vigorous protests.

Baltimore outthrew Detroit 14-9 in the first game but left 15 runners stranded. Three runs in the ninth gave the Tigers the decision. In the nightcap Vern Stephens' homer and triples by Jim Fridge and Sam Mele helped contract 11 strikeouts by the Tigers' Billy Hoof.

The White Sox ended Cleveland's 14-game home winning streak in the curtain raiser with the help of two-run homers by Minnie Minoso and Ferris Fain. Hegan's home run broke a 3-3 tie in the second game and the Indians added two more in the same inning.

Ahead 3-1, the Dodgers suddenly found themselves trailing by one run in the eighth at Philadelphia when Smokey Burgess smashed a pinch-hit home run with two aboard. Brooklyn tied it in the ninth after George Shuba doubled. The Phils threatened in the 12th after Hodges had given Brooklyn the lead, putting two aboard after two out. But Duke Snider raced to the center field wall and hauled down Willie Jones' tremendous drive for the final out.

Willie Mays of the Giants continued his hitting spree with his 14th home run in the first game at Pittsburgh. The lowly Pirates hopped on Hoyt Wilhelm for four singles in the ninth inning of the second game for the two runs they needed to gain the split.

Kennel Club's 9th Annual All-Breed Show Is Saturday

The Columbiana County Kennel Club, licensed by the American Kennel Club, has scheduled its ninth annual all-breed dog show and obedience trial Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Elks Club in Alliance.

Paul W. Lang, president; Arthur Vaughan, vice president; M. S. Lang, secretary, and Ray Middleton, treasurer, the club's officers, with Clifford Aunscht, show chairman, are planning the show in which 524 dogs will be entered. This tops last year's record by 113 dogs.

The Columbiana group is running their show in conjunction with the Mahoning and Shenango Kennel Club show which takes place Sunday in Youngstown, making a two-day circuit between the clubs. There are 635 dogs entered in the Youngstown show.

Judging starts promptly at 9 a.m. and will continue without intermission until the judge has completed his assignments. This annual event is designated as an "unbenched" dog show and obedience trial.

Q. On a deep fly, a runner on first base, thinking the ball has gone over the center fielder's head, races past second. Then he sees the ball has been caught and he races back to first base without touching second. The second baseman calls for the ball, steps on the base and appeals to the umpire. What's the decision?

A. The runner is out. Advancing on the bases, he must touch all in order—and the same thing goes if he reverses his field.

Q. On a ball hit wide of first, with a runner on that base, the first baseman fields the ball, whips it to the shortstop for the beginning of a double play. Should the second baseman get over and take the return throw?

A. Absolutely not. He should stay out of the first baseman's way, as long as he has started the play and is ready to finish it. The confusion of another player getting into the act causes errors more often than not.

Science Probes Mysteries Of Mars As Planet Comes Closer

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The red planet has an important rendezvous with earth this year during which man will try to solve some of its age-old secrets.

Is there life on Mars? Are there intelligent beings?

What is the meaning of the mysterious "blue envelope" which clouds the planet's surface?

What do the dark greenish markings portend during the Martian summer? Are they vegetation?

Are there really "canals" on Mars as claimed by the Italian astronomer Schiaparelli in 1877?

The passing years have not settled this controversy.

These are some of the mysteries scientists hope to penetrate this year — and in 1956 — when the planet will approach closer than it has in 15 years.

MARS SWINGS NEXT beyond the earth in distance from the sun. When the two planets reach positions nearest each other in their orbits, at intervals of slightly more than two years, their average distance apart is 48,000,000 miles. At times, Mars is more than 300,000,000 miles from the earth.

Mars' orbit is off center, however, bringing it closer to the earth in regular cycles. In 1954 it will pass a distance of about 40,000,000 miles, and in 1956 a little more than 35,000,000 miles, closer than it has been at any time since 1939.

Last summer the International Mars Committee was formed to plan and coordinate astronomical work on the red planet. In the coming year, observations will be made on all major continents, from high flying planes and perhaps even from stratosphere-piercing unmanned missiles.

The chief attack upon the planet's secret will be made by a team of astronomers sponsored by the Lowell Observatory of Flagstaff, Ariz., and the National Geographic Society. The expedition will be led by Dr. E. C. Slipher of Flagstaff, who has given a lifetime study to Mars.

IT WILL SPEND nine months at the Lamong-Hussey Observatory at Bloemfontein, South Africa, where a 27-inch refracting telescope will be trained nightly at the planet. The telescope is ideally placed for the work, being located at a latitude where Mars will pass almost directly overhead each night. The skies there are usually also clear in late spring and summer.

The committee hopes that by organizing round-the-world study of Mars, in which numerous amateur astronomers will participate, science will gain its most searching knowledge of the strange planet.

One goal is more exact measurement of the planet's diameter, about half that of the earth, and from it a better understanding of Mars' internal makeup.

ANOTHER IS THE photographic investigation of the so-called "blue envelope" that clouds the planet's surface at all except brief intervals.

Is there life on Mars? It has an atmosphere, with varying weather, and climate. It has polar caps,

'GONE WITH THE WIND' AND YEARS—Four-year-old Cammie King, who played daughter Bonnie Blue to Rhett Butler (Clark Gable), left, in "Gone With the Wind," was also present in Atlanta, Ga., for the movie's second world premiere. Only now she's a pretty 19-year-old, studying toward a television career at the University of Southern California.

which change in size with the Martian seasons. It has huge dark areas which extend toward the planet's equator. These change over the years and also with the seasons, although their general outlines remain relatively fixed.

The markings are dark greenish blue in the Martian summer, turning to a browner shade as fall and winter approach. This has led to conjecture that they are formed by vegetation.

PROBABLY THE MOST controversial thing about Mars, however, are the "canals" which Schiaparelli saw. Since canals would imply something dug by intelligent beings, they have excited man ever since.

Other astronomers have seen Schiaparelli's lines, thin and straight and tracing a grid-like pattern over vast areas of Mars. But still other astronomers, competent also, have failed to observe them. The overall network has never been photographed satisfactorily.

Galileo first observed the phases of Mars in 1610. The first sketches of surface markings were made in 1659. By 1783, astronomers had discovered that polar caps on Mars expanded and shrank in regular variation. In 1877, two moons, tiny satellites of Mars, were discovered.

3 Presbyterian Branches Unite

Union Represents 16 Years Of Planning

MONTREAT, N.C. (AP)—The 94th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States (Southern) yesterday voted to join with the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. and the United Presbyterian Church.

Assemblies of the two Northern branches had voted for union last week.

The move for union of 3½ million Presbyterians was started by the Southern Presbyterians and represented 16 years of planning. Plan after plan had been submitted and rejected.

This General Assembly might well become the most outstanding in Presbyterian history. Only last Saturday it landed a blow at Jim Crowism and asked its churches to let down racial bars.

It thus became the first major denomination to endorse with action the recent decision of the U.S. Supreme Court on segregation. Before either action becomes effective, it must have approval at the presbytery level.

The desegregation matter is left up to individual churches and the union plan needs the approval of three-fourths of the 84 presbyteries in the 16-state section. In the other two branches it requires two-thirds approval.

Commissioners favoring union gave much credit to Dr. James A. Jones, pastor of Charlotte's Myers Park Church, for a favorable vote on the minority report from the Committee on Interchurch Relations.

The committee had split 16-22 on its recommendation.

Dr. Jones told the assembly that "if Jesus Christ meant business when he taught his disciples to recite 'Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven,' be sure of our decision today."

Later, on a proposal for a secret ballot, Dr. Jones said, "There is no secret ballot from God . . . It now is the time to stand up and be counted."

Dr. John R. Richardson, pastor of Atlanta's Westminster Church, headed forces against unification. He said such a step would cause the individual churches to "lose their present reality."

FINES PAY SCHOLARSHIPS

CINCINNATI (AP)—Student parking fines this school year provided enough funds to grant seven $150 scholarships for the next school year, the University of Cincinnati announced today.

HOME ON WHEELS

The house trailer is getting to be more and more popular with folks who like to carry their home with them when on a trip of any size. Are you one of these people?

Or perhaps you are a man who must move his family from town to town wherever your job is currently located.

Lots of those who are house-trailer minded for one or the other of these reasons, find just the model they have in mind advertised for sale in the classified section of the newspaper! You'll be wise if you keep an eye on this column, for, as you'll discover the best trailer buys are usually listed here.

If you have a trailer now that you would like to sell, place an inexpensive "for sale" ad and see what good results you get! Remember, whether you want to buy, sell or trade, you can't beat Classified!

Memorial Day Rites Held In Damascus

DAMASCUS — Rev. Robert Mosher, pastor of the Damascus Friends Church, delivered the Memorial Day address for services Monday at 9 a.m. at the Damascus cemetery. In his topic "We Remember," he said, "We remember our dependence in God, those who gave their lives in the service of our country and the desire of world peace."

George D. Worth Post American Legion was in charge of the service. A parade from the High School to the cemetery included members of the Legion High School band, Boy, Girl, and Cub Scouts, Brownies and 4H groups.

Traffic was directed by the State Highway Patrol, while throngs lined the sidewalks along the course of travel.

Firing Squad Performs Double Job at Ceremony

NORTH ANDOVER, Mass. (AP)—A National Guard firing squad performed a double duty at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery yesterday.

The men no sooner fired the traditional volley of shots at Memorial Day exercises when they spotted a fire in a nearby parked car.

They filled their helmets with sand and put out the blaze.

The United States imports around eight million pounds of dried daisy blooms annually to make pyrethrum, an insecticide.
